“ This lady was one of the strongest, most adventurous, sweetest, most compassionate person and the list goes on that describes the person that she was. I loved her bunches and have had some great times with her. She will be missed beyond measure. Knowing that she is in the presence of her loving Savior is only for us left here to imagine what it would be like. She would not care if she left a legacy - but that she was a witness for Jesus...and that... she definitely was and her witness will live on. I love you girlfriend?
