“ Our family called him little Ricky. His family attended church with us, shortly after they started attending he lost his mom. This was a very hard time for him. He was the same age as my daughter and they were in elementary school. It was close to Christmas, I would pick him up from school and took him varies places which one included a trip to the mall. I think he bonded with us during that time and us with him. Life took us all in different places and we lost touch. I am praying for his family and all who loved him.
