“ Roger Black was one of the top five men in my life. He was a second father to me growing up. He loved Mona and us girls with all of his heart. I find it hard to find the words of what this man and his family meant to me through those growing up years. When Roger passed away -I was out of state in South Carolina with my family. When we crossed back into Alabama-We had to stop at a gas station. I was walking into the station and an older gentleman held the door and said come on in -Shugee. Roger instead of calling us girls sugar he called us shugee. It is funny how life will give you moments that will trigger a memory.

The last time I had been called Shugee was at my Wedding Reception. Roger before he and Mona left -Both of them hugged and & gave me love and he told me -I love you Shugee. I do not have not one memory of Roger that does not bring a smile to my heart. I like to think that he and daddy are up in heaven healed and watching over us like they did here on this earth. We will see them again & until then they would want us to take care of our girls the way they took care of us.

Praying god gives each of you the peace only he can give. Love Always-
